FAMINE AND ANARCHY UNLESS AID IS GIVEN

Food Draft May Be Purchased and Sent to Sufferers in Central and Eastern Europe

Food drafts on warehouses in Europe to relieve the distress caused by the shortage of supplies and ill-distribution is the latest means devised by the American relief administration to cope with this serious situation. Herbert Hoover, chairman of the relief administration, in asking the support of the bankers of the country, gave it as his opinion, that without systematized assistance in obtaining food on some basis of support from America, large sections of central and eastern Europe would be subject to famine and anarchy during the winter. There are millions of people in the United States whose relatives and friends abroad are suffering for lack of food. Many are desirous of giving direct help, but in some instances, the packing and extra freight involved add 100 per cent to the cost and there can be no certainty of delivery of the shipment. Under the plan of the American relief administration, food drafts of different values may be purchased from banks in the United States and forwarded to sufferers in the restricted districts.

The home service committee of the American Red Cross, who have received this information, have conferred with local bankers and will be glad to give information and every assistance possible to those interested in this method of relief. Every food draft is on order upon the warehouses of the relief administration and will be exchanged for the quantity of food designated thereon when presented by the person to whom it is sent or by his representative.

Warehouses are located in Hamburg, Warsaw, Vienna, Prague and Budapest. Flour, beans, bacon, corned beef, lard or vegetable oils and condensed milk are the staples listed on the food drafts and the quantities indicated determine the value of the draft.

Orders must be presented within ninety days of the date of the draft and when filled the selling bank will be notified and in turn inform its customer. The purchaser of the food draft will be charged the factory cost of the food plus a reasonable margin to cover transportation and insurance expenses.

The project, although not commercial, will be operated on a business basis and has the endorsement of the governments interested, as well as the approval of the president of the American bankers' association.

CAN REINSTATE INSURANCE WITHIN EIGHTEEN MONTHS

To relieve any confusion that may exist in the minds of former service men on account of the special provision of lapsed war term insurance which authorized reinstatement up to December 31, 1919, regardless of date of discharge, announcement is made by the bureau of war risk insurance that the provisions for reinstatement of lapsed or canceled insurance, within eighteen months from date of discharge, upon payment of only two months' premiums on the amount of insurance to be reinstated, provided the insured is in as good health as at the date of discharge or expiration of the grace period whichever is the later date, and so states in his application, still hold good.

The provision that discharged service men are permitted to reinstate at any time within three calendar months following the month of discharge by merely paying the two months' premiums, without making a formal application or a statement as to health is also still in force.

The provisions for reinstatement do not protect a man until he actually reinstates. If he waits he may not be in as good health as he was at the time of discharge and consequently may not be able to secure reinstatement. Don't put off reinstatement. Do it now!
